“Road to Zion: Hawaii” to air on KBYU-TV

PROVO, UTAH—“Road to Zion: Hawaii” will air on KBYU-TV on Monday, Sept. 8, at 7 p.m. Join host Shaunna Thompson as she explores the history of the LDS Church in the Hawaiian Islands.

The journey begins with the arrival of the first group of LDS missionaries in 1850, and Thompson shares the trials and successes of the Saints up until the Church’s 50th anniversary on the islands in 1900.

Viewers also learn about the Church’s sugar plantation and visit the campus of BYU-Hawaii, the Haleakala volcano on Maui, the Polynesian Cultural Center, and the Laie Hawaii Temple. “Road to Zion: Hawaii” also details the 1865 gathering of Latter-day Saints to Laie on Oahu, the growth of the Church on other islands and the pivotal role of the Honolulu Tabernacle in local history.

“Road to Zion: Hawaii” is the beginning of Season 2 of the “Road to Zion: Travels in Church History” series. Season 1 chronicled the history of the early Church with visits to various historical sites in the United States. In addition to Hawaii, upcoming episodes of Season 2 will include the history of the Church in the British Isles and France.
