Media Literacy

Learning Triangle Activity Sheet

Write a letter to your child about positive qualities you see in him or her, and mail it.

"Media literacy is the ability to use all kinds of media (television, movies, radio, internet, video games, etc.) with specific goals in mind. A media-literate person will consciously choose what to watch rather than simply flipping channels; they will be mindful of the messages being sent in the media and the impact those messages have on them; and they will talk to their children about these media messages. It is important to teach children these same skills in order for them to also become media literate." (DeGaetano & Bander, pp. 30–31).
